

HELICE SHOOTING

ZZ-Birds at Joshua Creek Ranch

Helice or “ZZ-Birds” is a competitive shotgunning sport that is like shooting clays with the unpredictability of bird hunting. Helice was developed in Europe in the 1960s as a replacement for live pigeon shooting. Target flight times are short and random, so shooter instinct, speed, and accuracy are at a premium. The objective is to not only hit the target, but to separate the white cap from the orange wings so that it lands inside a semi-circular fenced ring.
